

thewellproject

Women, Gender and Sexuality

Identity, Attraction, Connection, and Community

Last Updated: March 24, 2021

Together, we can change the course of the HIV epidemic...one woman at a time.

#onewomanatatime

www.thewellproject.org

#thewellproject

thewellproject

Sexuality Is a Spectrum

There are many ways to express and describe a person's romantic, physical, emotional attractions to other people.

thewellproject

Sexuality and Gender Identity are Fluid

- Sexuality is complex and can be fluid (moving and changing over time)
 - Also true for gender identity
 - Gender identity ≠ sexuality
 - Many gender identities other than "woman" and "man"
 - When we use "woman" and "man" here, we are referring to cisgender and transgender women and men, unless otherwise noted
- Connection with other people is exciting -- and there are so many ways to do it!

thewellproject

What Is Sexuality?

- Sexuality (n.):
 - People's attraction to other people overall (also called "sexual orientation")
 - People's feeling of being sexual
 - Activities that have to do with being sexual
- Here we will primarily the first definition -- to describe what and who people are attracted to when it comes to sex and intimate connection

thewellproject

Sexuality Definitions

- Asexual: someone who does not experience sexual attraction toward any person, regardless of gender
- Bisexual: someone who is able to have ongoing physical, romantic, emotional attractions to people of the same gender and another gender; sometimes shortened to "bi"
- Gay: someone whose ongoing physical, romantic, emotional attraction is to people of the same gender, as in "gay men" (can also apply to women)

thewellproject

Sexuality Definitions

- Heterosexual: someone whose ongoing physical, romantic, emotional attraction is to people of the "opposite" gender; also called "straight"
- Homosexual: clinical term to describe someone whose ongoing sexual attraction is to people of the same gender; considered outdated and offensive
- Lesbian: a woman whose ongoing physical, romantic, emotional attraction is to other women
- LGBTQ: stands for "lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and/or queer"; "Q" can also stand for "questioning"

thewellproject

Sexuality Definitions

- Pansexual: someone who has the potential for emotional, romantic, physical attraction to people of any gender
- Queer: used to describe sexuality as not being exclusively straight, or because "lesbian" or "bisexual" feel limiting, or interchangeably with "LGBTQ"
- Questioning: someone in process of discovering and exploring their sexuality and/or gender identity
- Same-gender-loving: some prefer this term to describe attraction to people of the same gender; sometimes shortened to "SGL"

thewellproject

Sexuality Definitions

- The language of sexuality is not "finished" and is still being written
- Always changing as communities find more ways to describe this complex aspect of who they are

thewellproject

What Is Sexuality?

- Sexuality is made up of (among other things):
 - identity (what group a person considers themselves to be part of based on their sexuality)
 - desires (who or what a person feels attracted to)
 - behaviors (what sexual acts a person engages in)
- All these parts of a person's sexuality do not always “line up neatly;” for example:
 - A woman who is attracted to women and has a woman partner may not always identify as a lesbian
- Not all people think about their sexuality in the same ways or using the same terms

thewellproject

What Is Sexuality?

- Same-gender sexuality has become more acceptable in the past ~20 years
- Number of people who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual is increasing
 - Especially true among Millennials (generation born roughly between 1980 and 1998) and younger
 - First to grow up during a time when LGBTQ acceptance had increased
- Sexual minorities also less likely to be white than non-LGB population

thewellproject

What Is Sexuality?

- Research shows the population of folks who are not heterosexual gets even larger when studies ask what gender people are attracted to (ie., women) or sexual activities they take part in (ie., sex with women) rather than how they identify (lesbian, bisexual, etc.)
 - People may not feel part of a community based on their sexuality, even though their behavior or desires may be the same as those that do identify as part of that community

thewellproject

Sexuality and Community

- Labels can be awkward but can help people find others for community or intimate partnership
- In most areas of the world, sexual minorities (people whose sexuality is different from that of the majority in society) have some experience of being marginalized (not valued, viewed as unimportant)
 - Being marginalized is one reason people want to be connected with a community of people who share their experience

thewellproject

What is Gender Identity?

Gender identity is not the same as sexuality

- Sexuality = who/what a person is attracted to
- Gender identity = who a person feels they are inside (regardless of what others assume)
- "LGBTQ" includes "T" for transgender
 - While it's true that these identities exist in overlapping communities, it's misleading to group transgender (a gender identity) with lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer (sexual orientations)

thewellproject

What is Gender Identity?

- Gender binary: the 2 genders ("male" and "female") most people think of when they hear they think about gender ("binary" means involving two things)
 - Considered limiting and oppressive
- Often unfair consequences for people outside the binary
 - Transgender and other gender nonconforming people are extremely vulnerable to harassment and violence

thewellproject

What is Gender Identity?

- There are many gender identities beyond, and even within, men and women
 - Growing understanding that gender (like sexuality) is a spectrum, not 2 fixed points
- “Gender” often gets confused with “sex”
 - Sex (male or female; in some cases “intersex”): label given at or birth, based on biological characteristics (body parts, chromosomes)
 - Gender: ways that societies and cultures expect people to think, look, act based on assigned sex

thewellproject

Gender Identity Definitions

- Butch: someone whose identity or expression leans towards masculinity; often masculine queer women/lesbians but can refer to any gender
- Cisgender: someone whose gender identity aligns with sex assigned to them at birth
- Femme: queer person of any gender who presents and acts in a traditionally feminine manner; often associated with feminine lesbians/queer women

thewellproject

Gender Identity Definitions

- Gender expression: how people choose to show their gender identity on the outside, through clothing, appearance, behavior, language, voice, or other outer characteristics; also called "gender presentation"
- Gender minority: person or group whose gender identity differs from that of the majority in society
- Gender nonconforming: broad term for someone who does not behave in a way that conforms to traditional expectations of gender – or whose gender expression does not fit easily into a single category

thewellproject

Gender Identity Definitions

- Genderqueer: someone who rejects notions of fixed gender categories; may see themselves as both male and female, neither male nor female, or completely outside these categories
- Intersex: umbrella term describing natural variations of people's physical bodies that are different from the narrow definitions of male or female
 - Some traits visible at birth (for instance, a baby having genitals that are not clearly male or female)
 - Others may not appear until puberty or show on the outside at all

thewellproject

Gender Identity Definitions

- Nonbinary: someone who does not identify exclusively as a man or a woman; may identify as both, in between, or completely outside these labels; may also identify as transgender (or not)
- Transgender: someone whose gender identity and/or expression is different from sex assigned at birth; may identify as heterosexual, gay, bisexual, etc.
- Two Spirit: umbrella term used by some indigenous people in North America to describe gender identities beyond binary of male and female

thewellproject

Sharing Pronouns

- Pronouns (e.g., she/her; he/him; they/them) describe a person or thing, especially when not present
 - People often make assumptions based on name or appearance about which pronouns that person wants used
 - Assumptions not always accurate; can be hurtful
- It's often, but not always, true that people identifying as men use "he," as women use "she"
 - A person may identify as a cisgender woman and use gender-neutral pronouns like "they/their"
 - "Ze/hir" or "ze/zir" are less well-known gender-neutral pronouns

thewellproject

Sharing Pronouns

- Referring to a person by their personal pronoun is a way to show respect for them
 - Sharing your own pronouns (or putting them on your nametag) when meeting new people invites others to share their pronouns with you
 - Helps to challenge idea that people can tell a person's gender identity by looking at them
- Sharing in group spaces can help create a setting that welcomes gender nonconforming and intersex folks
 - Due to concerns about harassment and violence, not always safe for some people to reveal they are gender nonconforming by sharing pronouns

thewellproject

Sexuality and Stigma

- Many cultures across the globe have some stigma against people who are not strictly heterosexual
 - Shows in common, everyday assumptions that everyone is straight (heteronormativity)
 - E.g., “Where’s your husband?” to a woman who may or may not have relationships with men
 - When the widespread belief is that heterosexuality is the “norm” it’s easier for anti-LGBTQ violence, policies, laws to continue
- It may not be safe for a person who is not heterosexual to be open about their sexuality
 - Same-sex sexuality against the law in 73 countries (as of 2/11/2019)

thewellproject

Examples of Sexuality-based Stigma

- Tanzania (2018): prominent politician ordered roundup and arrest of LGBTQ people in capital city
- Russia (2013): vague law made virtually all public displays of queer identity illegal
 - Numerous LGBTQ hate crimes followed
 - Numerous reports of torture, some deaths, of LGBTQ community members by law enforcement in Chechnya
 - Asylum applications from Russia to the U.S. have spiked during this time; continue to rise each year

thewellproject

Examples of Sexuality-based Stigma

- Uganda (2014): law some called "kill the gays bill" attempted to punish same-sex relations with life imprisonment or death penalty
 - Later found to be invalid but it resulted in huge surge of anti-LGBTQ violence, murder of a prominent activist
- United States: while a destination for people seeking safety from violence due to their sexuality, until recently:
 - Same-gender sexuality was illegal in many U.S. states (until 2003)
 - Same-gender marriage was not allowed in every state (until 2015)

thewellproject

Sexuality and Stigma

But there's good news!

- Even in countries where a person can go to prison for being who they are and loving who they love, people resist, form communities and organizations, connect with and fight for one another
- The Indian Supreme Court (2018) voted to remove a law that made same-gender sexual relations a crime

thewellproject

Stigma and Sexuality in the HIV Community

- Modern LGBTQ advocacy was shaped by early HIV activism
 - In the epidemic's early days, many more gay men were closeted (hiding their sexuality); few strong gay communities in many places
 - HIV and AIDS believed by society to only affect gay men; stigma against being gay and having HIV fueled one another, fanned flames of public hatred and fear
- Gay men came out in massive numbers – an important tactic to fight for advances in HIV treatment, care, and policy

thewellproject

Stigma and Sexuality in the HIV Community

- Men who fought to come out as gay and living with HIV (or who were outed by others) suffered great consequences
 - Losing families, jobs, often their entire previous life
 - HIV community owes much to their courage and struggles
- Gay men continue to be the most visible face of the HIV community in many parts of the globe
- Very little said about women living with HIV whose primary relationships are with other women or transgender men

thewellproject

Stigma and Sexuality in the HIV Community

- In the HIV community, often assumed that women with HIV must be with men
 - Extremely low risk of HIV transmission between women during sex adds to this assumption
 - Sexuality is fluid; women whose enduring attraction is to other women may have been with men before
- Most, but not all, women acquire HIV through sex

thewellproject

Stigma and Sexuality in the HIV Community

- Transgender women are highly vulnerable to HIV – roughly 1 in 5 US transgender women are thought to be living with HIV
- Transgender men are also vulnerable – particularly those who have sex with cisgender men
 - Transgender men's sexuality and HIV risk are not well studied or understood
- Aside from HIV risk, important to understand and document experiences and unique health needs of all of our communities

thewellproject

Finding Voice, Finding Community

- Safety is one reason there are such tight-knit communities of people based on sexuality
 - Can identify spaces for support, to be themselves, to find others to fight for them
- Communities people connect with based on sexuality may change as their identity changes, over time
 - People working to live in the truth of their sexuality may worry this will cause a rift with communities they identified with before
 - Can be important to connect with communities that are welcome the diversity and fluidity of sexuality

thewellproject

Finding Voice, Finding Community

- Much progress has been made in many areas of the world, but it still takes a lot of courage for women to be open about their sexuality and the truth of its complexity
- If this is part of your journey, know that you are not alone!

thewellproject

Finding Voice, Finding Community

- Local, national, international groups celebrate and affirm sexual diversity (see fact sheet)
- Online communities of LGBTQ people have flourished since the dawn of the Internet
 - May be more accessible than in-person groups for people who live in isolated areas or need to be quieter about their sexuality in their everyday lives
- Social medial platforms like Facebook can also be good places to find community

thewellproject

Finding Voice, Finding Community

- Several A Girl Like Me bloggers have written about sexuality and gender identity, sharing their voices so others' journeys may be easier
 - 4 Strikes Against Me...But I am Not Out! by Maria T. Mejia
 - I Have a Secret, by Gina Brown
 - My Christmas Carol, by KatieAdsila
 - Why My Ex and Best Friend Li and I Broke Up After 10 Years Together and Married Legally, by Maria T. Mejia
- Whatever your journey may be with your sexuality, we hope that their experiences inspire you to be yourself and live your truth!

thewellproject

Learn More!

- To learn more, and for links to articles featuring more details, please read the full fact sheet:
 - Women, Gender, and Sexuality
- For more fact sheets and to connect to our community of women living with HIV, visit:
 - www.thewellproject.org
 - www.facebook.com/thewellproject
 - www.twitter.com/thewellproject
 - www.instagram.com/thewellprojecthiv
 - www.youtube.com/thewellprojecthiv